SEYMOUR, INDIANA, SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1910.

MANY OPINIONS CONCERNING SITE

Several Locations in Central Part of the City Have Been Suggested for Federal Building.

SELECTION BY DEPARTMENT

Advantages and Surrounding of Sites
Will Be Important Factor with Government.

Since the announcement was published that a site is to be purchased in this city for a federal building, there has been much interest manifested as to the best location. Various opinions have been expressed as to the best site, and but few people seem to agree as to the best location. Some believe that the new building should be erected near the center of the city, while others declare that this is not essential, as the city is provided with free carrier service, and but few persons get their mail from the post-office.

However, it is believed that the building should be near the railroad stations, as it would be much more convenient in transferring the mail for the different mail trains. These matters will be taken into consideration by the Department when the various sites proposed are investigated.

Among the places that have been mentioned as good locations for the postoffice, is the Giger property, at the corner of Indianapolis avenue and Second street. It is claimed by those who favor this place that it is near the three railroads, and being along the Pennsylvania track, would be easily seen by persons passing through the city. In deciding upon a location many say that the building should be situated where it would be seen at the best advantage, as it will be one of the best buildings in Seymour and will add to the appearance of the city.

Another location which has been suggested is the property occupied by the cigar stand of Hauenschild & Shotts, and the adjoining property, on Chestnut street. Another is the lot formerly occupied by the Ahlbrand Carriage Company, together with the lots upon which stand the building of the Voss furniture store.

It has also been suggested that the lots owned by the Pfaffenberger heirs, at the corner of Third and Chestnut streets, would make a good location. Others have asserted that the lots at the corner of Indianapolis avenue and St. Louis avenue would be a favorable location, as the building would be near the stations and at the same time would be in the center of the city.

It is not known at this time just what lots will be proposed to the Government, as none of the proposals have been prepared. The Department requires that all the details concerning the location and surroundings shall be prepared and accompany the proposals. A representative is then sent to this city who will give the matter his personal attention and will make a thorough investigation of the advantageous points of all the properties offered.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Following its usual custom, The Republican will go to press at 10 o'clock Monday morning, July 4th, in order to give its employees an opportunity to enjoy the celebration.

MEDORA CELEBRATION.

Principal Address Delivered by Hon.
Thomas M. Honan.

The Medora Fourth of July celebration was held today at the grove, about three miles north of that place. The rain interfered somewhat with the morning program, but did not prevent a large attendance in the afternoon. The celebration was held today so as not to interfere with the Military Jubilee of this city.

The principal address was delivered by Hon. Thomas M. Honan, of this city, who spoke upon a patriotic subject. A large number of visitors were present at the celebration and many former Medora people attended.

First Baptist Church.

Bible school 9:15 a. m. Divine worship 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. There will be patriotic services morning and evening. At the morning service the pastor will speak on "The Conditions of Permanency in Civil Government." In the evening he will speak on "The Significance of the Stars and Stripes." Patriotic music will be used in both of these services. In the evening the Barkman Orchestra will be present and render some special music. The church will be decorated with the Stars and Stripes. All ex-soldiers are specially invited to attend these patriotic services and hear one of their number discuss these two important subjects. Polite ushers will show you to a comfortable seat.

First M. E. Church.

Remember, the service at 10:30 tomorrow will be patriotic. The pastor will preach. Subject: "Our Country." There will be special patriotic music. The decorations will be the American flag and flowers. Let each one who attends wear or carry a small flag. We extend a cordial welcome to all to come and enjoy the service. A special invitation to all old soldiers to attend this patriotic service.

All other services at the usual hours.

Presbyterian Church.

Tomorrow morning at the Presbyterian church the service will accord with the patriotic spirit of the season. The subject of the discourse will be, "The Creation of the Glorious Fourth." If anyone feels patriotic he could not do better than attend church.

DIED.

STEDMAN—Mrs. Lena Stedman died of tuberculosis Friday evening at her home near North Vernon, after an illness of several months. The deceased was formerly a resident of this city, and had many friends here. The remains will be brought here for burial.

NOTICE.

The City Library will be closed from 5 until 7 o'clock p. m. during the months of July and August.

Good order will be preserved during the Jubilee. All the members of the battalion have been sworn in as special police. There will also be other special officers on duty.

A six-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spray died at 2 o'clock this morning at their home near Jonesville.

PARK IS ENCLOSED BY CANVASS WALL

Final Arrangements for the Grand
Military Jubilee July 4 and 5
Being Completed.

BEAUTIFUL FLOATS IN PARADE

They Are Being Built by the Merchants.—Program at the Park
Great Crows Expected.

The managers of the grand Military Jubilee for the Fourth and fifth of July are rapidly completing the final arrangements for the big event and if the weather is fair, Seymour will have one of the biggest and most successful celebrations in its history. Visitors are already arriving in the city and there is every indication that big crowds will be here both days.

The stage for the free attractions at the park is finished and last night the canvas wall enclosing the entire grounds was put up. It was brought from Chicago, and over 3,000 feet were required. The concession men are getting their places in shape. Fifteen stands were up this forenoon and the work still goes on.

As previously announced, the parade, which will be the first thing on Monday's program, will start at 11 a. m. Some beautiful floats have been built by the merchants, and automobile owners are planning to make their section an important one. Some comic features have been arranged to enliven the parade.

The afternoon program at the park will begin at 1:15 and conclude about 4:30, with a balloon ascension. The free attractions include a Zonave drill, equilibrist act, acrobatic performances, trick bicycle riding and trained goats. One of the pleasant features of the afternoon will be the concert by the Indianapolis Newsboys' Band.

The evening program will begin at 7:30, and will close with a novel and magnificent fire piece.

The program for the second day, with the exception of the parade, will be the same as that of Monday. The admission fee of ten cents to the grounds will be the only charge for the entertainment. A $300 pony rig is to be given to the one holding the lucky entrance number. As there will be a rush at the gates, it has been suggested that tickets be purchased in advance. The members of the battalion have them for sale.

Attention is called to the fact that no fireworks, fire-crackers or other explosives will be allowed in the park.

SQUIRREL SEASON OPEN. Game Wardens Will Protect Quails and Other Game.

Several of the local hunters went to the woods Friday in search of squirrels, the open season beginning July 1, and continuing until October 1. It is reported that there are fewer squirrels this year than there have been for several years and hunters say they are being protected better than ever before. The majority of the farmers who own a tract of woodland have it posted and are using every effort to prevent hunting upon the reserve.

The game wardens throughout the state have endeavored to protect the squirrels during the closed season, and many prosecutions have followed violations of the law. The fish and game commissioner has instructed the state deputies to watch carefully for hunters who kill quails and other game while in search of squirrels.

MUSICIANS CONVENTION.

Miss Nellie Crane, of This City, a Member of Executive Committee.

The thirty-third annual convention of the Indiana Music Teachers' Association closed at Princeton Friday after a most interesting and valuable session. At the business session in the morning officers for the ensuing year were chosen and upon the executive committee is Miss Nellie A. Crane, of Seymour.

One of the features of the closing session was an organ recital by Harrison M. Wild, of Chicago, who is recognized as one of America's greatest organists. Another interesting feature of the program was a talk on the "Art of Singing" by David Bispham, the celebrated barytone. During his remarks he illustrated the subject by singing several songs.

Tuesday Club.

The Tuesday Club met this afternoon with the president, Mrs. W. F. Pfaffenberger on Indianapolis avenue. The new programs for the coming year's study were distributed. The subject for the year's work will be "Spain." The past year when French literature and history were studied has been very successful. Two of the papers read before the club were sent to the reciprocity bureau of the state federation for filing. These papers were by Mrs. John C. Groun on "Mme. d. Seigne, de Montespan, de Maintenon, and Recamier", and by Mrs. Ida Sandau on "The Relation of French Literature to French Life."

CHANGE IS MADE IN EIGHT HOUR LAW

Postoffice Department Establishes
Forty-eight Hours a Week
System.

AFFECTS CITY MAIL CARRIERS

The Great Need of the Seymour Office is an Additional Carrier.—Application For One Now In.

Postmaster E. A. Remy has received a communication from Washington that as a result of a recent decision by the Court of Claims, the Postoffice Department will make a change in the rule governing the working hours of carriers. For a number of years there has been in force a rigid eight hour law which did not allow carriers to work over that time any day. If on a last trip the time limit expired before he had completed his route he was compelled to stop. By the new law the carriers may work six or seven hours on one day and nine another day, provided the aggregate of the week's work does not exceed forty-eight hours.

At some offices where the amount of mail is light some days and heavy others the new law will be of advantage. At some of these offices there will be a reduction in the work of substitutes which has been required at the postoffice.

At the local office the new law will not afford the advantages and relief it will in some places. There are few days here when the carriers can save time for use another day. Every day is their busy day and they have all they can do to complete their schedules and get out their mail. The city has grown and the amount of mail for delivery increased until there is great need of an additional carrier, the auxiliary service the office now has, not being sufficient. Friday the mail was so heavy that the three carriers in the residence district were unable to complete their first trip until after one o'clock.

There is at present on file an application for an additional carrier and it is hoped it may be granted this summer.

THE MONEY IS NOW ON HAND

Big Tim Sullivan Reaches Reno With a Wad.

AND MORE WAS WAITING HIM

With the $50,000 He Carried From New York and the $51,000 Rickard Turned Over to Him and the $10,000 Each Put Up by Jeff and Johnson, Stakeholder For Big Fight Is Just Simply Lined With Coin Today.

Reno, Nev., July 2.—Big Tim Sullivan of New York, holder of the stakes for the big fight, came in over the desert more than seven hours late. He brought with him tucked away in his wallet certificates of deposit for $50,000. Promoter Rickard will turn over to him a checkbook for the account of $51,000 which has been brought up from Frisco and deposited in the Nixon National bank of Reno. Checks for $10,000 which have been put up by Johnson and Jeffries respectively are also on deposit in the Reno bank in the name of the stakeholder.

Simultaneously with the arrival of the stakeholder came the announcement that George Harting of Frisco has been appointed official timekeeper. Harting is an oldtimer in San Francisco pugilism, and it is said of him that during his career he has held time on 1,100 fighters. His name was acceptable to the principals and promoters without any dispute.

The ends of the world began for the first time to get in touch at Reno when the delegation from the antipodes, headed by Tommy Burns, the former champ, came down over the mountains from Frisco. Anticipating the arrival of this latest receding star of the pugilistic world, all of the ex-champs who were handy to the station were down along the tracks ready to welcome Mr. Burns and his three traveling companions from Australia.

A disorganized cheer greeted Johnson's former antagonist when he stepped from the Pullman. Behind him were Hugh McIntosh, promoter, who discovered the merits of the fighting game in Australia by matching Johnson and Burns; W. F. Corbett, who writes sporting dope for the Australian papers, and Bill Lang, a heavyweight from the south seas, whom his manager, Mr. McIntosh would like to place against Ketchel or any other of our rising young heavyweights who have no immediate dates.

McIntosh was soon surrounded by a group of reporters and had this to say when asked about the fight: "I can't see anything in it but the colored person. Not that I at all favor a negro against a white man, you know; but this Johnson fellow is a very, very clever chap and no big bull-like person he is to meet can shove him around. You people here say that the colored man has a yellow streak. But I can't for the life of me understand how he is not just as game as a white man. Yes, it's me for Johnson, as you say over here."

Burns was equally as decisive in backing the hundred quid which he has up with McIntosh. He said that he would be quite willing to fight Johnson again, and in the meantime, while the color line was all wiped out, he was very anxious to meet Sam Langford. Burns summed up his opinion in these words: "If Jeff is quite as fit as everybody says he is, no big lazy nigger who boxed flat-footed like any bounding kangaroo is going to get him in any fight to a finish. I look to see Jeff carry away the honors in something less than twenty rounds."

Henry Watterson's Son Creates Panic at Saugerties.

Saugerties, N. Y., July 2.—Ewing Watterson, eldest son of Henry Watterson, veteran Kentucky editor, became violently insane here and without provocation or notice, shot and mortally wounded Michael J. Martin, proprietor of the Market Street hotel. After the shooting, which was in the cafe of the hotel, Watterson ran up the street waving his pistol and firing at everyone who crossed his path. He was pursued by friends of Martin, several of whom had guns. They fired at Watterson, but none of the shots took effect.

Watterson was finally captured by a policeman and is now in jail. He raves constantly. It has been impossible for the police to get from him a coherent statement. Young Watterson owns a farm about five miles from Saugerties, where he lives with his wife and three children. It is said he was recently released from a private sanitarium.

TREASURY DEFICIT HAS DISAPPEARED

Thanks to Corporation Tax, a Surplus Now Appears.

Washington, July 2.—The secretary of the treasury entered the new fiscal year with a surplus of $9,202,000. For more than a year the department had been wrestling with a deficit. It was the first full fiscal year under the Taft regime, and coming on the eve of the campaign, will be made much of by Republicans. A year ago, at the beginning of the fiscal year just closed, the secretary was confronted with a deficit of $58,734,000. While the treasury condition has been steadily improving since last October, when the new tariff law got in working order under normal conditions, the immediate reason for changing a deficit of about $2,000,000 to a surplus of more than $9,000,000 was the heavy receipts from the corporation tax.

The receipts of the treasury from all sources during the fiscal year just closed were $669,064,000, as compared with $603,589,000 in the preceding fiscal year. The sources of revenue were as follows: Customs, $332,785,000, against $300,771,933 of the preceding year. The figures show that the post-office fell short of being self-sustaining by only $8,500,000, which is the best record ever made by that department.

No Serious Accident.

Indianapolis, July 2.—Several records were broken at the Indianapolis speedway Friday with the opening of the auto races, and though the speed was terrific at times and a great many cars on the track at one time in some of the events, the day passed without any serious accident.

Destructive forest fires are reported from upper Minnesota and the Canadian side of the Rainey river, immense damage having been done to timber and several villages invaded.

SENATOR McCUMBER

Held His Own Against Onslaught of Insurgents.

Senator Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota, a standpatter, was successful over Thomas Marshall, his insurgent opponent, in the state primaries. McCumber made his campaign on the new tariff law. As a member of the senate committee he assisted in the framing of the Payne bill.

PARISIAN MOB TRIES TO TAKE GUILLOTINE

Strong Guard Necessary to Protect Execution.

Paris, July 1.—The Guerre Sociale issued a violent paper inviting all workmen and Socialists to meet at the Santa prison, where Lisheuf was guillotined at daybreak today for murdering a policeman. Prefect Lepine hastily drew up a plan to resist any possible attempted invasion of the precincts of the prison or the guillotine. The oldest journalists in Paris do not remember an execution which has excited such deep interest and such fierce controversy.

Late last night thousands of persons wended their way to the Boulevard Arago. The police and troops were mustered in strong force, and unusual precautions were taken against any overt act by a mob. It was reported that Socialists had decided to seize the guillotine and throw it into the Seine, and also that they intended to attack the soldiers and police. The guillotine, in a clod wagon, arrived at the prison late at night, escorted by mounted troops with drawn swords. Executioner Deibler and his aides promptly set it in place and tested it. The crowd began to grow unruly and the police extended their lines and roughly prevented anyone without authority from passing them.

The disorder increased as the hour for the execution approached. The cavalry made a series of charges on the crowd, and the police used their fists with vigor. More than eighty men were so badly injured that they were taken to hospitals. The mob openly menaced President Fallieres with death in the near future for signing the death warrant of the man.

Leisuef, who did not sleep during the night, received with serenity the notice that the time had come for him to die. He walked in a deliberate manner to the guillotine, shouting, "I protest against my execution."

Took a Trip in Aeroplane.

Garden City, L. I., July 1.—Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, jr., was a passenger in an aeroplane flight made last evening by Clifford B. Harmon. She declared that aeroplaning is a wonderful sport, and said she was not the least bit frightened.

Cook in Comfort

You no longer need wear yourself out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort. Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All the heat is utilized in cooking—none in outside heating.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wipe with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell.

The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot.

It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

BULLY TIME BUT
NOTHING TO SAYThis Is the Word Given Out
At Beverly.

JUST LIKE TWO SCHOOL BOYS

The President and the Colonel Found Much Cause For Hearty Laughter When They Got Together After Long Separation, but Just What They Talked About, the Reporters Could In No Way Find Out.

Beverly, Mass., July 1.—Just like two college boys who have been parted for a long summer that has been full of incidents for both, President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt met here.

"Mr. President!" the high-pitched voice of the colonel shot out the words with all the vehemence it ever carried in debate. "Theodore!" the big form of the president looming above that of the colonel, shook as he boomed it out.

"It used to be 'Mr. President' and 'Will.' Now it is 'Mr. President' and 'Theodore,'" added the colonel as he eyed the man before him from head to foot. Then they grasped each other's shoulders in an unfeigned burst of delight. The portico of the Taft cottage at Burgess Point is roomy, but for the president of the United States and the only living ex-president it is not too large at all. Up and down its length they strode, laughing and gesticulating, the smaller man eager, alert, intensely interested, the other laughing hugely, exploding now and then at what he heard.

It reminded some of those who heard of the time at the White House in Washington when Taft was secretary of war and the colonel was in the White House. In those days, not so long ago, when Mr. Taft entered the sanctum merriment entered, too.

There was laughter always when he and Mr. Roosevelt were together and not seriously engaged. It was the same spirit that prevailed at Burgess Point. There were others present while the president and the colonel talked. Senator Lodge, whose guest the latter had been at Nahant, came over with him. Secretary Norton and Assistant Secretary Forster were on the portico of the Taft cottage, too.

But they were but little in the conversation. True, they all took tea together on the shady porch, but the most part of the two hours and a half that Roosevelt stayed within the gates of the summer capital he and the president paced the floor arm in arm, talking, gesticulating and exulting in their renewal of an old friendship.

"I had a most pleasant time with the president," said the colonel, when he whirled out of the gate in Senator Lodge's car, bound for Nahant and Boston. "I don't believe there's anything to say, is there, Cabot?" he added, turning to the senator. The senator agreed that there was not. "We had a most delightful time together," he continued, as an afterthought.

"They had a bully time," was the way Secretary Norton put it when he came out later and was besieged by the newspaper men. "They talked about many things in a personal way." The colonel was shown a clipping from a newspaper in which he was declared to have told Governor Hughes that he was "sore" because the governor would not run for a third term. "That," he said, with a snap of the jaw, "is absurd and unqualifiedly untrue."

That was what the president and the colonel had to say about a conference, the prospect of which set the tongues of politicians wagging long ago. Secretary Norton was asked what they talked about, and somebody suggested Lewis Carroll:

"The time has come," the walrus said,
"To speak of many things;
"Of shoes and ships and sealing wax,
"Of cabbages and kings."

"That," said Mr. Norton, "about expresses it all."

Fatal Mine Accident.
Princeton, Ind., July 1.—John O'Neal, aged fifty-five, was caught under a fall of slate in a mine here, and killed.

The following were elected overseers of Harvard: Charles W. Eliot, Theodore Roosevelt, Francis L. Higginson, George A. Gordon, Abbott L. Mills, Augustus E. Wilson.

"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN

New Yorker Who Will Hold
Stakes for the Big Fight.MORE DIFFICULTY IN SIGHT IN MINE FIELDShutdown May Follow Action of Scale Committee.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 1.—After nearly two months of intermittent meetings, the miners and operators' joint scale committee has decided to refer one point in disagreement to a joint convention July 7. This point is the clause in the wage contract imposing a fine of $1 a day for miners who go on strike without first exhausting the arbitration method provided in the working contract. In the temporary contract under which the miners are now at work, the clause is eliminated and there have been twenty strikes in two months. One occurred this week at Forest Park because two men were discharged for firing shots at noon instead of at 3 p. m., as they wanted a half-holiday. When reinstatement was refused the miners quit work without consulting the state officials of the United Mine Workers. Another shutdown is likely if the controversy is not settled by the convention of July 7.

SIX BODIES FOUND

Cloudburst in Eastern Kentucky Attended by Loss of Life.

Lexington, Ky., July 1.—Searching parties sent out from Saylorsville and Paintsville to assist the stricken families in the Licking river valley, devastated by a cloudburst, were greatly handicapped on account of the raging waters. A full report of the district has not yet been made.

A corrected list of the dead up to date is: Roach Gayhart, Mrs. Roach Gayhart, Willie Gayhart, William Conley, Mary Gayhart, the families of S. B. Whitaker and W. M. Bailey, two unknown children.

One report says that fifty people residing in that section have not been accounted for. Bodies were seen drifting in the river, but could not be recovered on account of the swiftness of the current. The store and stock of merchandise of Indian Wierman and that of John Wierman, located two miles apart on the banks of the river, were lost. Citizens of Paintsville counted seven dwelling houses and three schoolhouses passing in the river.

HINDS FOR CONGRESS

Parliamentary Expert Nominated by Portland Republicans.

Indianapolis, July 1.—The Democratic state committee has made final preparations for launching the state campaign. A state news bureau is to be established at once and daily papers are to receive six letters each week in plate form and the weeklies will be supplied with a page of matter for each issue. The plan of the campaign involves the expenditure of more money than was ever before used for such a purpose.

TO PUSH THE ISSUES

Indiana Democrats Starting on a Campaign of Education.

Portland, Me., July 1.—Asher C. Hinds of this city, clerk of the house of representatives and parliamentary prompter since the days of Thomas B. Reed, was nominated by acclamation as the Republican candidate for congress to succeed Amos L. Allen, who has announced his retirement at the end of the present term. The mention of Hinds, if elected, as the logical successor to Cannon, brought cheers from the convention.

Six persons were killed, twenty or more injured and a number of buildings destroyed as the result of a powder explosion in a store at Boulder, Mont.

Returns from the mental examinations for admission to the naval academy recently held show that only 104 of the 280 who took the examination have passed.

FIGHT FANS TO
HAVE SURPRISENevada's Governor Fixing to Give Them a Speech.

WILL BASTE THE EFFETE EAST

Preliminary to the Event Upon Whose Issue All the World Is Hanging Expectantly, Governor Dickerson Will Enter the Squared Ring and Tell the Folks Something About the Freedom of the Glorious West.

Reno, Nev., July 1.—Promoters Rickard and Gleason have altered their determination not to have any preliminary attraction to hold the arena in patience pending the appearance of Jeff and Johnson on the day of the fight. Governor Dickerson of Nevada, yielding to the request of Rickard, will be the preliminary all by himself.

No word of this embellishment of the July 4 program has been allowed to escape from the lips of either Rickard or Gleason. This is because the twin financiers are holding a pleasant attraction in surprise for the thousands who will sit on the pine next Monday. But one of the underground pipe lines which lead from Rickard through all the sporting territory about the Golden hotel, sprung a leak, and here is the arrangement by which the apogee of pugilism is to be given the official endorsement of the governor of the sovereign state of Nevada. When all the thousands are seated and the tension of expectancy is greatest, Rickard will escort Governor Dickerson to the roped square in the center of the tremendous coliseum and will introduce him to the assembled multitude as the governor who has had the courage to see that the law of Nevada does not bend before the protest of the other states. Rickard will then invite the spectators to contemplate a square man and good fellow, who knows the law as it is written and who has done his duty as he saw it.

The private source of information which vouched for this interesting piece of gossip has it that thereupon Governor Dickerson will deliver a brief speech, in which he will tell about the glorious freedom that is enjoyed in the state of Nevada, how people in Nevada consider the question of individual liberty and how he thinks that an exhibition such as that which is about to follow does not in any way transcend the bounds of morals and should not shock the delicate sensibilities of people who live in a more effete section of the country east of the glorious Washington.

"Big Tim" Sullivan, the stakeholder, will arrive in Reno tonight.

NOT FOR GEORGIA

Nothing in the Way of a Prize Fight
Can Go There.

Atlanta, Ga., July 1.—After passing a stringent anti-prize fight bill, the Georgia senate reconsidered the bill and made it more drastic by adding an amendment which prohibits "any contest, with or without gloves, in which violent blows are struck by the contestants, and to see which gate receipts are charged."

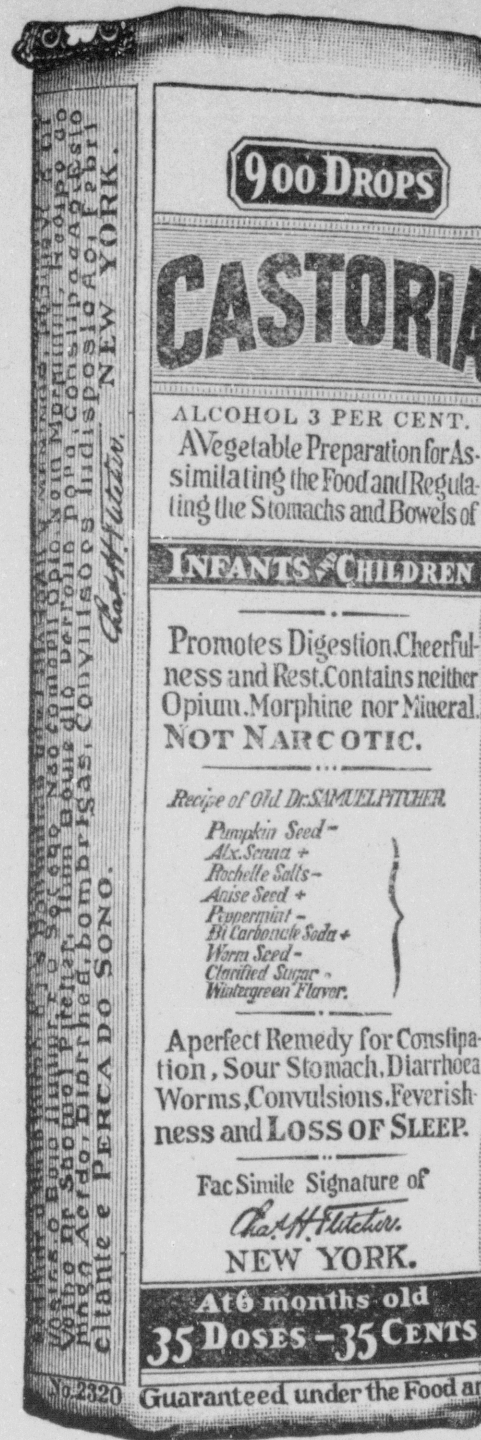

The amendment therefore prohibits amateur as well as professional contests. Senator Matthews, who introduced the amendment, declared prize fighters to be ruffians, and said: "We ought to prohibit any contest between such animals in our state."

The measure is sure of an overwhelming majority in the house. Athletic clubs in Atlanta and Savannah will be put out of business.

WALL STREET HAS AN EXCITING TIMENot Since 1907 Has It Received Such a Jolt.

New York, July 1.—There was one of the most pervasive breaks in the stock exchange yesterday that has happened since the time of the panic of 1907. Some declines during the present year have been as great in certain directions, but the market as a whole has not received the jolt that was felt yesterday. Many records of low prices were made and depression settled down in every quarter.

At the time when the market was dipping lowest there seemed to be organized help from somewhere that lifted it out of the depths. The rumor that this came from a certain source could not be verified, but the comparative strength found at the close of the day appeared to indicate that a timely boost had been administered. The atmosphere that marked early trading was apprehensive from the very opening. Within the first three hours 1,000,000 shares had changed hands. The pace slackened during the middle of the day, but it became brisk again toward the close. By the time there was a chance to look for the bruises that came with a day of hard hitting, it was found that losses of six points were not uncommon among railroad issues and that a four-point drop had happened to many an independent industrial stock.

A Fashion Chat on Evening Dresses.

Furnished by Pictorial Review
853 Broadway, New York City.

Evening gowns are strikingly picturesque on account of their simplicity of design and the beauty of material employed in them. The effect of one handsome gown seen at a notable affair was flowerlike. The skirt fell in about the feet in lines like the petals of a flower and its artistic drapery added still further to the suggestion.

Tunics are worn a great deal and they range from the pointed overskirt to the very soft drapery that is caught together below the knees with a cabochon ornament or beaded tassel.

Many evening gowns are entirely without fulness on the hips, but generally there is a tunic or a drape of some flimsy material falling below the knees which adds grace and prevents a too plain, lanky figure.

Of course, the train is always worn for evening but Parisians have adopted the short dress and for dancing it is surely more suitable. This is a question, however, that can only be settled by the individual to suit her own requirements.

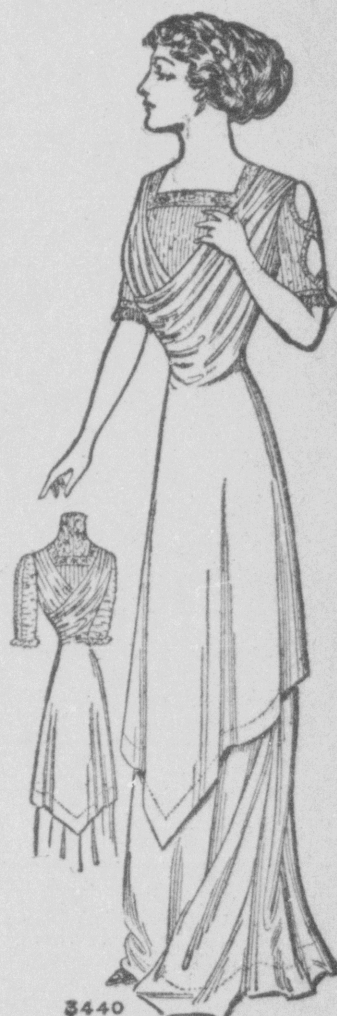

Sleeves are short draped affairs in length being about half-way between the shoulder and elbow. The corsage bouquet of artificial orchids, violets and gardenias and a moderate use of rosebuds on the evening frock have quite a vogue.

Veiled effects in evening gowns are charming and mysterious. Beautiful silks and satins form the foundation of the gown while materials so sheer and diaphanous that you imagine a breath would blow them into nothingness, form the draperies and overskirts. Tulle and chiffon studded with tiny pearls and crystals are exquisite and in the light of the ballroom the effect is superb.

PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3454 was originally made of pink and white French tulle. The circular skirt is separate, and has an inverted plait at the center-back. The over-skirt drapery is in corsage-girdle effect in front, while the back is gathered low on the skirt to form a knot. Pattern sizes are for 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure and the medium size requires 8½ yards of 48-inch material.

No. 3440 was made of satin souple. The waist and over-skirt drapery are in one piece mounted on a princess foundation. It provides for short length and also high neck. Satin mousseline de sole or chiffon cloth may be used. The dress requires 6 yards of 48-inch material with 7¼ yards of 36-inch goods for foundation. The sizes are 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure.

Patterns for these dresses, including cutting and construction guides are 15 cents each number.

The early reports of the census bureau for the state of Texas show that there has been a decided increase of the population of that state since 1900. From an early bulletin of the census department it is learned that Howard county has a gain of over 300 percent, having grown from 2,528 to 8,881 in ten years. Scurry county also shows a gain of 100 percent, having doubled its population of 5,000 inhabitants since the last enumeration. Other counties show similar gains.

These figures are interesting, as they show the rapid progress that has been made in the southwest. Other so-called new states will watch the census reports with interest as they are expecting to see large gains in their population. With this country becoming more densely settled, it is altogether probable that greater progress will be made in the next decade than has been made since 1900, which end has been remarkable.

Few sessions of Congress save been given closer attention than the one which has just closed. And after a careful analysis of the work accomplished it must be agreed that many beneficial measures have been enacted. Practically every important provision of the Republican platform has been fulfilled, and in spite of the reports from the Democratic newspapers, the public realizes the real value of the last session. It would indeed have been a notable event in the history of politics had there been no adverse criticism from the party of the minority, as it is by this means that it hopes to dethrone the party having the majority of members.

In this campaign, as in others, it will be seen that criticism has no weight, whatever, unless founded upon facts. Many of the measures which have been enacted and which were attacked by the Democrats, will be found by due trial, to be of value and benefit to the public, and underscoring of unjust criticism which has been passed for the sole purpose of political gain. Before an act of congress is condemned it should be remembered that the laws are general and have within their scope the entire country and are not enacted for any section or state. Many of the new measures have already been tried and found worthy of commendation. Others will undergo the same test and will prove the wisdom of enacting such legislation.

HEAVY PASSENGER TRAFFIC.

Cars on Steam and Electric Roads
Crowded with "Fourth" Guests.

Passenger traffic on the steam and electric roads was very heavy today, and every train and car which passed through the city was crowded with Fourth of July visitors. The special rates on the steam lines were taken advantage of by a large number of people who desired to visit their relatives or friends for several days, and several of the trains carried extra coaches for the accommodation of the passengers.

On the electric roads the travel was also heavy, and the regular cars, being unable to carry the large number of passengers, were followed by specials. There were two sections to the Dixie Flyer, which arrives here about 2 o'clock, and both cars were crowded.

The freight departments of the roads as well as the mail cars, have also had an unusually large business during the past few days.

Miss Flossie Gilbert, of Medora, and Miss Eunice Boatman, of Mattoon, Ill., are visiting Mrs. C. M. Bortoff until after the Fourth.

MORE HARMONY

The Fifth District in a Way to Be Redeemed For Republicans.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, July 2.—Another Republican harmony convention marked the selection of a congressional candidate in the Fifth district. The nomination of Frank Tilley, of Terre Haute, is believed to mean another district redeemed for the Republican ticket this year. Frank Tilley had Vigo county solidly at his back, which was a strong factor in his favor. It is generally believed that this condition means his election next fall. Both in platform and in nomination, Fifth district Republicans worked out a hopeful and encouraging solution. Frank Tilley, known up and down the state as an orator of convincing power and eloquence, is called the "Abe Lincoln of Vigo County." His speech to the delegates at Martinsville rang with his determination to make a hard fight for party victory, and voted his loyalty to Republican principles. Mr. Tilley was one of those present at a conference, yesterday, at state headquarters, when the Republican congressional nominees, and Senator Beveridge discussed campaign plans with State Chairman E. M. Lee.

Sam Ralston, of Lebanon, had a bad half hour in a Democratic caucus at Taggart's hotel in Indianapolis a day or two ago, and Stokes Jackson, Democratic state chairman, actually wept scalding tears before the meeting was over. Ralston is a member of a sub-committee of the Democratic state organization. This sub-committee has charge of the publicity bureau just put in motion by Tom Taggart and the "Harmon and Harmony" combination of big interests. The Democratic state central committee was in session planning for its publicity machine, and Ralston was yanked up to explain why Boone county, his home bailiwick, repudiated the Democratic state platform and declared against the repeal of existing liquor laws. Ralston could not explain, except to say that local sentiment in Boone county refused to be "thwarted." Steve Fleming's representative, E. G. Hoffman, of Fort Wayne, refused to be satisfied with Ralston's apology, and there were heated words between him and Mr. Ralston. The discussion went so far as to end with a denunciation of Ralston for an alleged ambition to lead the temperance forces in a race for the governorship in 1912.

Stokes Jackson, who desired that the state central committee as a whole be made an advisory board for the extensive new publicity bureau, was overruled when it came to a vote on the question. In other words, Jackson was about to be shorn of some more power. Jackson has been shoved aside from time to time, and he resented this latest thrust keenly, and with tears rolling down his cheeks, demanded his rights as chairman. His tearful plea touched the spot, and as a compromise, the state chairman was put on the sub-committee to advise the new publicity superintendent, Guernsey Van Riper. The sub-committee has no newspaper men on it. Besides Chairman Jackson there are Sam Ralston, George Beebe, and E. G. Hoffman. Hoffman represents Steve Fleming, head of the brewers' club in Indiana. He also represents the Tom Marshall end of the dispute, but he is not of much moment when it comes to deciding policies and methods. The Taggart-Crawford Fairbanks-Herman Oelrichs end of the Democratic argument has the swing, absolutely, and this will be shown in the tone of the bureau's matter before the Democratic campaign has gone far.

Republicans were enthused anew Friday following a conference of the Republican candidates for congress with State Chairman E. M. Lee. Senator Beveridge was present and had a part in the meeting, which continued in session for several hours. Those congressional candidates present were: Judge E. D. Crumacker of Valparaiso, Tenth district; E. E. Neal, Noblesville, Ninth district; Oscar E. Bland, Linton, Second district; John L. Thompson, Gas City, Eleventh district; Judge W. O. Barnard, New Castle, Sixth district; Linton A. Cox, Indianapolis, Seventh district, and Frank Tilley, Terre Haute, Fifth district. Judge O. N. Heaton, the Twelfth district nominee, of Fort Wayne, and John Moorman of Knox, of the Thirteenth district, were unable to be present. It was the general feeling of the congressional candidates that the record made by the Republican majority in the congressional session just closed has given the campaigners plenty to talk about, and a sufficiency to base party boasts on. The tariff commission idea, which has been put to the front in Indiana and other states, is likely to be one of the foremost subjects for discussion this year. The achievements of the Taft administration will be laid before the Indiana voters in proper form.

LATEST FIGHT NEWS.

Reports Will Be Received at City
Park Monday Afternoon.

The committee of the Military Jubilee is endeavoring to make arrangements to have the reports of the Jeffries-Johnson fight received at the city park Monday afternoon for the accommodation of the visitors who will be interested in the outcome of that match. Arrangements will probably be made with the Postal Telegraph Company so that the report of each round will be given a short time after the round is completed.

There seems to be some difficulty upon the part of the telegraph companies in securing the news desired, and it is said that the promoters have refused to allow them to run a special wire to the arena unless they consent to the payment of a large sum of money. It is believed, however, that the company will be able to report the progress of the fight and will be able to furnish such information to the committee here.

PRAYER LED TO SUIT IN LIBEL

Singular Complication In An Illinois Church.

AN OFFENDED MEMBER SUES

Pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Neoga Made Defendant in a Libel Suit Following His Refusal to Tell the Lord in Open Prayer That He Had Wronged Jacob Strohl, a Wealthy German Farmer.

Neoga, Ill., July 2.—Rev. R. F. Fisher, pastor of the Neoga Presbyterian church, has been made defendant in a $500 libel suit, following his refusal to tell the Lord that he had wronged Jacob Strohl, a wealthy German farmer.

"Oh, Lord, make Brother Strohl a better man, cause him to pay his debts and have him cease backbiting," fervently supplicated the minister in a prayer which startled his congregation.

"Now you'd better make another prayer and straighten things up with the Lord," declared Strohl when Fisher concluded. Fisher refused. Several years ago the Cumberland Presbyterians, of which Strohl was a member, built a church which was taken over by the Presbyterians, the Cumberlands being refused its use. Recently Strohl asked Fisher to preach the funeral services of one of the Cumberlands. Strohl opened the services with a prayer for unity and fervently prayed for more grace for the pastor. Fisher followed with the prayer that caused Strohl to bring suit for damages.

OUTLINING CAMPAIGN

Indiana Congressional Aspirants Talk
Over the Situation.

Indianapolis, July 2.—The Republican candidates in the congressional districts have been in conference with State Chairman Lee regarding the campaign to be made in each district in order that there might be uniformity. The nominees reported that it was plain that Mr. Taft has grown greatly in popularity with the legislation enacted within the closing days of congress, and the Republicans everywhere feel that their cause has been strengthened with the people. The idea of the candidates was that much should be said in the campaign about the tariff commission; that the Payne law should be given the credit of being a good revenue producer; that the principle of protective tariff should be generally approved, and that it should be pointed out in particular that any inequalities in the schedule of the tariff law will be corrected by the tariff commission. There was much talk among the candidates as to what President Taft and Roosevelt will have to say in regard to the campaign in Indiana. The feeling was expressed by some that the president will not come into Indiana, and some thought that Roosevelt, before the campaign is on in earnest, will give a blanket endorsement to the administration of Taft.

MATURING THE PLANS FOR POSTAL SAVINGS

Several Months Must Elnapse
Before All Is Ready.

Washington, July 2.—According to a statement issued by the postoffice department it will be several months before the postal savings banks depositories provided for by the recent act of congress can be made ready for business. The board of trustees, consisting of the postmaster general, secretary of the treasury and attorney general, who under the law have charge of the postal savings banks in the United States, met and completed their organization by selecting Theodore L. Weed, chief clerk of the postoffice department, as secretary. A committee consisting of chiefs of divisions of the postoffice department was appointed to work out the details of the system and submit a report to the trustees.

In a statement issued by the board it is set forth that the work of preparing the blanks and records and the drafting of the regulations will take several months. About a score of banks have already applied to be designated as depositories, and many postmasters have made application to have their offices among the first four where money will be accepted for deposit.

WORKED ONEHANDED

Colorado Highwayman Makes Rich
Haul on a Stage Route.

Telluride, Col., July 2.—A lone highwayman, wearing a black cloth mask and armed with a huge revolver, held up the star route mail and passenger stage between Paradox and Placerville. He made the ten passengers line up in the road and took about $500 from them. He carried away two sacks of mixed mail. He also forced the driver to deliver an express package of currency which he evidently knew was being carried on the stage. After securing money and mail, the robber ordered all back into the stage and told the driver to "Move on and don't look back," which injunction was obeyed.

Juror Spare Charges Libel.

Chicago, July 2.—Charles Spare, a juror in the Browne senatorial bribery case, has filed a libel suit for $50,000 against State's Attorney Wayman. The suit is based on Wayman's statement that Spare was the man who hung the Browne jury. Wayman was also quoted in the papers as expressing the opinion that the jury had been fixed.

BEAN CULTURE.

Instructions For Growing of Vegetable
For Use During Green State.

These cultural instructions pertain to the growing of beans for use during the green state or for snap shorts, as it is generally known, says the Iowa Homestead.

It is an old saying that land which will not grow any other crop may be planted to beans. However, this is a great mistake, for in order to grow a good crop of beans the soil must be fairly rich or you will have a poor crop. Beans will come into bearing earlier on light, sandy soil, but larger crops and pods of better quality can be grown on heavier soils, only they will be a little later in coming into bearing. This point should be given consideration when planting for market, as the early crops always bring the best prices.

Beans are very tender and should not be planted until the ground is quite warm or the seed may decay in the ground. Planting should be done about the time corn is planted or a little later for main crop.

Plant in rows eighteen inches apart, having the seed in drills every four inches or in hills about one foot apart in the rows. Cover the seed about two inches deep. The writer prefers planting in hills, as they are easier to hoe and keep clean from weeds. As soon as the plants are up commence to stir the soil, and give frequent but shallow cultivations until the blossoms appear. After that all cultivation should cease, as the blossoms are very easily knocked off, and of course this would greatly diminish the crop of pods.

Do not work among your beans when they are wet from rain or dew if the soil is so dry that dust rises, as that would cause the leaves to rust, which often ruins the crop. For a constant supply of fresh, tender pods make successional plantings until the middle of July.

Keeping all pods picked while young and tender will greatly prolong the bearing season. Great improvements have been made in beans during recent years, and varieties have been produced which are absolutely free from strings and tough fiber. Although seed of these improved varieties costs more than the common sorts, you will be well repaid in the finer quality of the pods produced.

USEFUL SUMMER SPRAY.

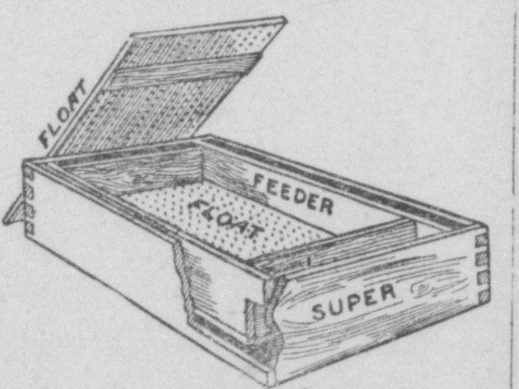

Effective at Same Time Against Plant
Diseases and Injurious Insects.

Fruit growers are desirous of using one spray that will be effective against both plant diseases and injurious insects so that all can be dealt with at the same time. The department of entomology of the University of Kansas, therefore, recommends the following: Lime, six pounds; sulphur, four pounds. Boil together in a kettle of water for an hour. Strain this into a barrel of water and add two pounds of arsenate of lead.

It should be applied now to peaches to control the rot and to apple trees to prevent wormy apples and to secure smooth, symmetrical fruit instead of fruit disfigured by the scab. This is also an excellent spray against insects which affect the potato. For fruit trees begin spraying as the blossoms fall, then once each month until fruit has begun to ripen.

Bee Feeding Device.

When extensive feeding becomes necessary in the apiary the device shown herewith will be found very useful. It consists of a paraffin coat-

BEE FEEDER.

(From the American Agriculturist.)

ed box with a perforated wooden float almost as large as the inside dimensions of the box, which in use is set in a super. For convenience in handling the feeder should be about two inches shorter in front, one-half inch at the back and three-quarters inch at each side than the super's inside measurements, and the front should be partly cut away, as shown. In use the super may be set below the brood chamber with, say, twenty or twenty-five pounds of sirup in the feeder. This amount will be taken up by a strong colony in about two days. It is essential that paraffin be used freely around the crack to prevent leaking. —American Agriculturist.

Fertilizers For Watermelons.

Where stable manure is not available for watermelon growing the Georgia experiment station recommends the following mixture of commercial fertilizer: Nitrate of soda, 400 pounds; high grade acid phosphate, 800 pounds; muriate or sulphate of potash, 200 pounds. This should be mixed and applied at the rate of 700 pounds and upward per acre. For later melons a mixture of 800 pounds of cottonseed meal, 800 pounds of high grade acid phosphate and 800 pounds of kainit per acre may be used.

Protecting Seed Corn From Crows.

Add a tablespoonful of chloride of lime to a peck of shelled corn, mixing it well. It is a very cheap and easy way, and the seed is more agreeable to handle than when coated with tar after the more common method.

EDITOR SYMBOL OF RACE ADVANCE

Arrived In America Thirty-five Years Ago From Tyrol.

THOUGHT LOCOMOTIVE DEVIL.

Oklahoman Believes His Career Typifies Progress of Man In Last 400 Years and Is Proud of Fortunes He Has Won and Lost During His Life In the United States.

John Golobie of Guthrie, Okla., who is proprietor of the Oklahoma State Register, came to New York not only to see Colonel Roosevelt, but to see Castle Garden again after thirty-five years. Mr. Golobie was just ten years old when he saw it the first and last time, and he has mostly forgotten what language he spoke then. His English is perfect.

Mr. Golobie said that his life epitomizes the history of civilization and progress, in the world the last four centuries.

"I don't know," said Mr. Golobie, "whether I was born a Dalmatian, a Croatian, an Istrian or what, but I do know that I came from a little district in the Austrian Tyrol, and I was only ten years old when I left. They had just heard of this country in that part of the world. I know the idea thereabout was that the earth was flat and square and on wheels, and they used to say in our village whenever we would feel the jar of an earthquake of which the full force was being felt in Italy, 'Oh, that is one of the earth's wheels jolting over a stone.'

"They did not have locomotives in that part of the world then. There was talk of a railroad being built, but the people of our village opposed it on the ground that anything driven by fire and smoke must perforce be by the machination of the devil. I was a victim of primogeniture, and my mother had saved up to give me a chance in the world. When she heard of America she determined to send me here, and I came alone, except that a German woman who spoke a little of my language took me in charge on the journey.

"I know that in Castle Garden they shot us up the wrong chute and put us in with a bunch of people whose language we did not speak. In fact, I never found anybody that did. I was a year and a half learning enough English to get along with, and I was by turns a dry nurse, a woodchopper and as I got a little older a shoemaker. "When the Wichita boom came along I, who had gone first into insurance and then into real estate in Kansas, made $18,000 in about six months. I reinvested it again and lost it all. Then I took to writing. Considering that I sprang from darkness like that of the middle ages, I claim that my career about typifies the progress of man in the last 400 years."

$40,000 PRIMARY A PHANTOM

Congressmen Fear Sibley Will Cause
National Publicity Bill.

Congressmen in Washington, especially those who do not want to pass a publicity bill for campaign receipts and expenditures, were talking in dark corners about the expenditure of $40,000 by ex-Representative Joseph C. Sibley, hero of the Archbold letter episode, who has just defeated his successor, Representative Wheeler, for the Republican nomination for congress in the Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania district.

Inasmuch as Mr. Sibley's total remuneration, counting all perquisites to his office, if re-elected to congress, will be only about $18,500 in two years, it is difficult to understand why he wants to go back to Washington when his primary nomination alone stands him a dead loss of $22,000 and he has yet to be elected, wait more than a year before taking his seat and then live two years after that. One answer is contained in Mr. Sibley's complaint about the criticism leveled against his extravagance. The gist of his argument is:

"I have plenty of money, and I want to go back to congress. Why shouldn't I?"

BERLIN HAS A NEW MIDGET.

Prince Atom Is Two Feet In Height, but Smart.

What is alleged to be the smallest midget ever exhibited is now filling an engagement at a vaudeville theater in Berlin under the name of Prince Atom. He is just over two feet tall, his height being about the same as the diameter of a phonograph horn. His parents were of normal size. He is normal in his proportions, and his mind is well developed. He is also good natured, and he loves to chat with the children who flock to see him perform athletic feats and swing the dumbbells.

America Heads Philippine Exports.

Manila, Iloilo and Cebu are the chief importing and exporting Philippine ports, Manila leading, followed by Cebu. The United States leads all other countries in both imports and exports. In imports the order is, principally, United States, Great Britain, French East Indies (rice), China, Australasia, Germany, Japan, Spain, France, British East Indies and Hongkong.

Humor and Philosophy

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

SOME people use up more energy trying to keep out of a scrap than it would take to fight their way straight through the whole shooting match.

The kind of beauty that costs a lot of money comes high, but still people have to have it.

Something for nothing sounds alluring, but somebody else always sees it first and takes it.

The difference between idealists and matter of fact people is the latter have an idea occasionally.

It is hard to keep in the right path. Maybe that is the reason why it is the right path.

Some people are so exceedingly moral that they have no time to amount to anything else.

Nothing justifies selfishness except the necessity of looking out for oneself.

It is easy enough to make a hit if the target is big enough.

One of two things—it takes either courage or muscle to fight your way through the world.

Some people never change their minds, perhaps because their minds were obtained at bargain rates.

The Better Way.

Scatter kind words as you journey
Out on the highway of life.
Spill a few smiles as you travel
Down at the doorway of strife.
Give the old grouch such a jostle
So to the woods it will take.
Toss that cross grained disposition
Into the depths of the lake.

It is a matter of habit
Whether a smile or a frown
Lightens or muzzes your features,
Raises or pushes you down.
You may be happy or gloomy
Just as you wish or you will,
And on occasion to settle
Costs you no more in the bill.

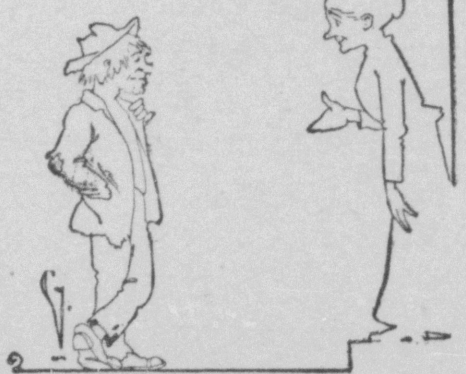

What do you think of the party
Whom on the highway you meet
Who with his vinegar features
Darkens one side of the street?
Would you prefer to be like him
Or is it better to be
Listed as Billy the Smiler,
Famed as a shedder of glee?

Scatter kind words in the byways,
Radiate sunshine and cheer.
Do not let people downhearted
Work at the trade when you're near.
If your face trimmings are gloomy
Have them smoothed off with a file.
To the repair shop your features
Take if it hurts you to smile.

His Credentials.

Weary Willie—Did you ever hear of such extravagance?
Hungry Ike—What is that?
Willie—A king never wears the same suit of clothes twice.
Ike—I knowed you had royal blood in your veins, Willie.
Willie—How do you make that out?
Ike—When you git a suit of clothes you sleep in it till it's all worn to tatters.

Suspicious.

"Do you want a good home, my poor man?" asked the philanthropic spinster of the hobo.
"Er—er—is this a proposal, madam?" queried the bo.

Difficult.

"What are you going to do?"
"Try to make it up with Mame."
"What for?"
"Because I didn't come down last night."
"I suppose she won't want to see you round now."
"Not unless I can square myself."

All Put On.

"That man has a terrible secret."
"Mercy! What is it?"
"I don't know what it is. It wouldn't be his secret if I did."
"Then how do you know that he has one?"
"He always seems so supernaturally happy and good humored."

Just Deserts.

"I wish I had more time."
"You do?"
"Yes."
"Well, you deserve it and ought to do it."
"Do what?"
"Time."

Hard to Understand.

"What is soft water?"
"Rainwater."
"Rainwater?"
"Yes."
"But I always hear them speak of its raining hard."

No Bargain.

"We want to buy uncle something nice for his eightieth birthday."
"What would you suggest?"
"A seat in the United States senate."

VICTORY IS MINE, CLAIMS PRESIDENT

Railroad Revision Measures, Creation of Commerce Court and Postal Savings Banks Among Laws Pointed to by Taft.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.
THE chief measures passed by the session of congress just closed were the railroad bill, the postal savings bank bill, the land withdrawal bill, the reclamation bond bill, the campaign publicity bill and the statehood bill. What amounted to a tariff commission bill was also passed, for an appropriation was voted the tariff board on an understanding that it should investigate cost of production at home and abroad.

All of these measures were enacted on the recommendation of the president and constitute what are known as the Taft policies.

Probably never in the history of the country did a president so completely have his way so early in his administration. True, he had to abandon some of his program, including such items as federal license, anti-injunction and ship subsidy, but this abandonment was only temporary. Considering the driving power he displayed he should be able to force through those items and others during the short session. He will also probably attempt to obtain federal regulation of railroad stock and bond issues at some future session. He recommended it strongly this time, and his idea was ingrafted in the Wickersham draft of the railroad bill, but was stricken out in the senate. Later the conference committee gave him a commission to inquire into railway securities, and it will doubtless be on the report of this commission that he will renew his recommendation for federal regulation. The chief object of such a law would be to prevent the watering of stock.

A Bill With Teeth.

The new railroad law provides, among other things, for a commerce court, to which all appeals from the interstate commerce commission shall be made. It gives the commission power to initiate an inquiry although no formal complaint has been made. It confers on the commission the power to suspend for ten months a proposed advance in rates and to prohibit such advance permanently if found to be unreasonable and unjust. This provision went into effect at once in order that it might apply to the proposed increase in freight rates recently halted by the famous Taft-Wickersham injunction. The law places telegraphs, telephones, cables and wireless under the control of the commission, but provides for special rates, such as those given to the press. It contains a long and short haul provision forbidding a greater charge for a short haul than for a longer one over the same line.

CONGRESSMAN J. R. MANN, CHAIRMAN OF RAILROAD COMMITTEE, WHO AIDED TAFT'S PROGRAM.

It prevents the merger of competing roads or of the absorption by a railroad of a competing water line. It permits shippers to choose routes and to be represented by counsel in hearings. It forbids a railroad from lowering its rates to drive out water competition and afterward raising them except by permission of the interstate commerce commission. It provides for a commission to inquire into the issue of railroad securities and the watering of stocks.

It contains many other features of benefit to shippers, such as those to expedite hearings. Many of the provisions in the railroad law were placed there by the insurgents in the two houses. They called it “giving the bill teeth.” Among the most notable of these additions are the long and short haul clause and the inclusion of telegraphs and telephones. The progressives also struck out the merger and traffic agreement sections.

Postal Depositories.

The postal savings bank law marks a new departure in American finance. It provides that the president and two members of his cabinet shall constitute a commission to establish postal depositories at money order postoffices throughout the country, that these officers shall receive deposits not exceed $100 per month or $500 in all from one person, that 2 per cent interest shall be paid on these deposits, that 65 per cent of the postal funds shall be placed Credits Congressman Mann For Passage of Railway Bill --- Insurgents' Work Material Aid to Administration in Battles.

In nearby banks on proper security, 5 per cent shall constitute a reserve fund and 30 per cent may be invested in government bonds. In cases of extraordinary emergency, however, the president may invest all the funds in government bonds. Western senators protested against the bond buying feature of the act and against the security required from local banks on the claim that these provisions would operate to throw the postal funds into Wall Street.

Statehood and Conservation.

The act admitting Arizona and New Mexico as separate states provides that the people of these territories shall proceed to the formation of constitutions, which shall go into effect when ratified by the voters and approved by congress and the president. There was some hitch as to voting qualifications in Arizona, but this was fixed by a broader suffrage than that now recognized in the territory. It is probable that the two new states will be in the Union by 1911, making forty-eight in all and using up all the territory in the United States available for statehood purposes. This, of course, is exclusive of Alaska and our island possessions. It is time to put two more stars on the flag.

Originally President Taft recommended nine conservation measures. Two of these passed. The land withdrawal act empowers the president to withdraw from entry temporarily any lands now in the possession of the United States, but provides that land containing metalliferous minerals shall be subject to entry under the mineral land law. The act was criticised by such conservationists as Gifford Pinchot because it failed to validate the withdrawals of President Roosevelt and by implication at least threw a doubt on their legality and because the provision as to the mineral land law and that concerning homestead entry left a loophole for the private acquisition of water power sites and other natural resources.

The other measure enacted, which was not strictly a conservation act, but was related thereto, was the reclamation bond bill. This was originally put at $30,000,000, but was cut to $20,000,000. A fight was made on the provision requiring army engineers to pass on irrigation projects which was thought to reflect on the reclamation service and possibly to mean the supplanting of Director Newell, who had testified against Secretary Ballinger. It was finally compromised by providing that the president must approve such projects, and it is presumed that he will use army engineers to investigate them. The purpose of the reclamation bond measure is to raise money to complete irrigation projects already undertaken by the government.

Campaign Fund Publicity.

The campaign publicity law which the president advocated, although it was not usually classed as one of the Taft policies, requires that candidates for congress shall file a statement of election receipts and expenditures after election. The Democrats made a fight to compel publication before election, and a provision to this effect was included in the house bill, but was afterward stricken out in the senate.

The president also succeeded in getting an appropriation of $250,000 for the tariff board with the avowed intention of having it investigate the cost of production at home and abroad and if the information obtained warranted it to use this as a basis for further tariff revision.

Of the Taft policies, federal license, ship subsidies, anti-injunction and several conservation measures were temporarily sidetracked with the president's consent. By a close vote in the senate the ship subsidy measure was made the unfinished business to be taken up in the short session. Other measures which are left over are the anti-olition bill, prohibiting gambling in cotton futures, and the Appalachian forest reserve. Both of these measures passed the house, but were lost for lack of time in the senate.

A Chapter of Inquiries.

Congress undertook numerous investigations, the most important of which was the Ballinger case. The report on this, it is understood, will be given out before election. The high prices investigation by the Lodge committee brought forth a partial report, which exonerated the tariff and ascribed fifteen or twenty causes to the increased cost of living, among which were the larger production of gold, congestion in cities, abandonment of farms and food trusts. The investigation of the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois was left to a subcommittee, which will hold hearings during the recess. In the closing days of the session Senator Gore of Oklahoma made sweeping charges of attempted bribery in relation to Indian claims, and an inquiry was ordered by both houses.

One of the most notable developments of the session was known as the insurgent movement. It consisted of about thirty Republican members of the house and perhaps a dozen in

SENATOR GORE OF OKLAHOMA, WHOSE BRIBERY CHARGES STIRRED CONGRESS, tried to and to modify the rules. In the house after a memorable fight they removed the speaker from the rules committee, which they enlarged and caused to be elected by the house itself. Their chief fight was against the Payne-Aldrich tariff and against what they termed Cannonism. It is generally agreed that their activity had much to do with the retirement of Aldrich and Hale in the senate and to have made Speaker Cannon's re-election impossible. Through their influence the pigeonholing of bills has to an extent been abrogated.

Reduced Appropriations.

One of the watchwords of the session was economy, and, while no vast saving has been made, the chairman of the ways and means committee stated at the close of the session that the aggregate of appropriations would show some reduction from the previous year and compared to the normal increase in appropriations due to the growth of the country would show material saving. He gave the credit for this to the president. In this connection Mr. Taft sent in a severe criticism of the rivers and harbors bill, usually known as the “pork barrel.” While he signed the measure, he frankly threatened that if another such were ever sent to him he would veto it. He would overlook it this time, but don't do it again. Another attempt at economy which went wrong was the elimination of the pension agencies by the house. The senate restored the agencies, and the two bodies twice disagreed on the item, but the house was finally forced to recede.

Despite the claim of Chairman Payne the actual figures show a slight increase in appropriations.

Everybody Happy.

Taken all in all, the session probably accomplished more work and made less noise than any of recent times. It is slyly hinted that the special elections in Massachusetts and New York threw the fear of God into the members and they decided it was high time to make good if they expected to get back. It is also just possible that the president's big stick had something to do with the result. However that may be, the miracle was accomplished, and the close of the session gave the country a gratifying example of what a congress can do when it buckles down to business. This was all the more a pleasant surprise for the reason that the first five months gave no promise of such an agreeable ending.

Congress accomplished little during these five months and gave no sign that it would ever mend its ways. Then came the landslides in Massachusetts and New York and some mighty straight talk from the White House, after which there were evidences of repentance and a desire to lead a better life.

The country is glad of all this and still gladder, perhaps, that it is over. That is one of the good things about congress—the relief that is felt when it quits.

JAPAN PREPARES TO TACKLE U. S.

British Naval Expert Predicts Fight Without Interference.

EUROPE WILL CALMLY WATCH

Alliance of Mikado and England, Expiring in 1915, Will Not Be Renewed, Asserts Gerard Fienness—Philippines to Be Spoil of Yellow Nation Is His View of War's Outcome.

Discussion of Great Britain's naval policy is a thing that, to the American who hears the endless rounds of contesting argument, bids fair to “run on forever.” Another English naval expert has discovered shadows in the Pacific cast by war clouds formed because of the relations between the United States and Japan, especially because of the American “open door” policy.

This latest contribution has appeared in the London Graphic, forming part of a series of articles which under the general title of “The Sovereignty of the Seas” have been embittering still further the “naval policy” wrangle. The author of this series is Gerard Fienness, numbered among England's foremost naval experts and a man who is not particularly well liked at the admiralty because he insists on “speaking out in public.”

British Alliance to Die.

Mr. Fienness states that the Anglo-Japanese alliance cannot be renewed on its expiration in 1915 and that there are grave indications that this agreement may not conserve far eastern affairs on peace lines even before its existence is concluded. He argues, too, that Great Britain must give up its policy of regarding the empire in the light of the “hen and chickens” combination.

“Japan will,” he asserts, “in the last analysis fight the United States very much for the reason that prompted Bismarck to fight France.”

He admits that if Japan today ordered Germany out of Kiaochow the kaiser would have no alternative but to move out, adding, however, that in such an event the old European league would revive and Germany, France and Russia would overwhelm the mikado's people.

“But,” contends this naval expert, “Europe is not going to lift a finger, I imagine, when war breaks out between Japan and the United States to save to the latter the islands of which it deprived Spain. Europe has a ‘Monroe doctrine’ of its own, and it includes the determination to leave the United States to stew in its own juice.”

Japan Despises America.

“The Japanese are full of contempt for American brag and bounce, for the lack of national spirit or even of true nationality, which they discern in the Americans. They have a profound disbelief in the war worthiness of the American navy and an acute realization of the fact that the strategical situation is overwhelmingly in their favor.”

“It is objected that the Japanese are too poor to fight. When will people recognize the fact which all history teaches—that it is the poor nations, not those which have grown rich and comfortable, which fight? The Prussia of Frederick the Great, the France of Napoleon, were poor.”

“It ought to be so obvious as not to need saying that it is the nation which hopes to gain something, not the nation which is preoccupied in holding what it has gained, which is tempted to war. Japan is rich enough to afford war because, directly or indirectly, she will make war pay for itself.”

LARGEST STEAMER PLANNED.

German Liner to Exceed All Previous Size Records.

The largest steamship in the world is soon to be built at Hamburg for a German line, and the plans were recently inspected by Emperor William.

The ship will have a length between perpendiculars of 876 feet and a breadth of 85½ feet. From keel to upper deck will measure 64 feet. She will have a speed of 22 knots and will be twice the tonnage of the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria.

The new giant liner if stood on end would top the Metropolitan tower in New York by 176 feet. If set down in the middle of Broadway between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-ninth street it would occupy the length of almost three city blocks, and its breadth would crowd back the buildings on both sides. A quarter of a mile track could be laid out around its deck. It would be higher than the average five story building.

Diving Is Remunerative.

The free instruction given by the United States navy at its seamen gunners' school includes a course in diving. Many of the younger bluejackets become very proficient in this work. Besides his regular pay, the member of a ship's crew, if a diver, receives an extra compensation of $1.20 per hour for the actual time he is employed under water.

AUTOMATIC ENUNCIATOR TO SAVE HUMAN VOICE.

Chicago Invention Useful in War, Peace and Sport.

The first public demonstration of an “automatic enunciator” took place recently in Chicago. The invention is a development of telephone experiments. By the use of electro-magnetic action the voice of a speaker is carried along as many wires as desired and for any distance, then sent out through graphophone horns, so as to be audible in a large room.

At the demonstration Inventor L. M. Cole spoke in a tone that could not have been heard thirty feet away, and in a dozen rooms all over the building the reproducer emitted the tones clearly.

The enunciator can be attached to telephone circuits in large buildings, and in every room simultaneously the message will be given. These are some of the uses the promoters give:

Paging guests simultaneously in every public room of a hotel.

Giving information to department heads in wholesale houses from the main office.

Announcing trains from several horns in large station lobbies.

Sending commands to every officer on a battleship.

Announcing streets to passengers at every seat in street cars.

Aiding the audiences of theaters, operas and churches to hear all that is said and even carrying the sound to residences.

Notifying building employees of fire in the building.

Calling carriages and automobiles at theater entrances.

Delivering complete baseball and racing news to any number of halls.

Carrying the voice of a speaker to audiences at “overflow” meetings.

The results are gained by alterations to three telephone agencies—the transmitter, the receiver (or producer, as it is here called) and the circuit itself. The nature of these alterations the promoters refuse to give out until patents are perfected and manufacture started.

PULLMANS USED IN SUBWAYS

London Underground Surpasses New York In Comfort.

New Yorkers may think their subway is up to date in every detail, but it isn't—that is, compared with London's underground. The latter has introduced the very latest in comfort. It is running on several of its trunk lines Pullman buffet cars.

A commuter who misses his breakfast can get it on the train. Later in the day passengers can have lunch, and after 4 o'clock they may have tea. Soon the Pullmans will be attached to the theater trains, and supper may be had on the way home.

The Pullman company has never been able to extract from Englishmen a fare equal to that familiar to Americans. The Pullman conductors on the trains to Brighton, fifty miles from London, collect only a shilling (25 cents) for the journey. The trains to Folkestone, seventy-nine miles from London, carry Pullmans, and the Pullman fare is only a shilling.

There are no Pullmans on the long distance trains to the north, to Glasgow and Edinburgh, but the railroad companies provide very comfortable sleepers, for which $1.25 is charged in addition to the fare. The passenger is provided with a compartment all to himself. There are no upper berths. The compartment contains a lavatory and an electric reading lamp. They aren't luxuriously upholstered in the well known Pullman form of high art, but their comfort and cleanliness are undeniable.

TRY OUT MONEY LAUNDRY.

Uncle Sam's Bills Scrubbed by Machine at Washington.

Uncle Sam's money laundry is getting a tryout in the United States bureau of engraving and printing. Director J. D. Ralph is on the job watching with interest the renovator of dirty bills do its duty. The machine on trial is one invented by Frank B. Churchill.

The machine takes bills and spreads them on a screen. This screen is revolved rapidly through a solution of soap and water, which takes off the grime. The next disk takes them through a strong solution of a disinfectant, which removes the germs. A third disk removes the traces of the other two waters and sends the bill out on to a plat ready for the “plater.” The “plater” is the same roller used to press new money. It is this machine that gives new money its crispness. After the washed out bills are run through the “plater” they are comparatively new, the ink colors having been brought out again and the dirt removed.

It is Mr. Ralph's idea that the life of a banknote will be extended about 60 per cent by the new method. The machine which he wants will cost between $800 and $1,000. It will save from $500,000 to $1,000,000 annually.

HAS MENAGERIE FOR TOYS.

Frogs, Pup, Turtle, Kittens and Chipmunks in Flat.

There probably is no boy in Greater New York who can boast of a stranger collection of playthings than that owned by the young son of a physician living on Park avenue. The boy has the entire second floor of his father's dwelling as a playroom. Although he has plenty of mechanical toys, the boy prefers to play with his menagerie. This consists of a colony of frogs, a rabbit, a bull pup, a turtle, two snow white kittens and six chipmunks. Through patient training the boy has succeeded in getting the bull pup, the kittens, the rabbit and the turtle to eat from one bowl at the same time.

When the stomach fails to perform its functions, the bowels become deranged, the liver and the kidneys congested causing numerous diseases. The stomach and liver must be restored to a healthy condition and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets can be depended upon to do it. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by all dealers.

Mrs. Emma Ellis, accompanied by a twelve-year-old daughter, arrived here this afternoon from St. Louis, and was taken to the home of her father, Henry Baxter, northeast of Crothersville. Mrs. Ellis has been ill for several months and is in a serious condition. She has undergone three operations in the St. Louis hospital.

It's just as important that you be clean inside as outside—more so, in fact. Unless your system is entirely cleansed of all impurities, you cannot be one hundred per cent healthy. Rocky Mountain Tea is the greatest systematic cleanser known. Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

Clawson, the Hoosier cyclist, of Marion, is in the city and will remain until after the close of the celebration. He is a trick cyclist and has given a few exhibitions on the streets which show that his act will be very attractive.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Sold by all dealers.

J. L. Russell, a young man who formerly lived in Seymour, died of consumption yesterday in Indianapolis. The body will be brought here tomorrow for burial.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gently stimulate the liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system, cure constipation and sick headache. Sold by all dealers.

Judge O. H. Montgomery, of the supreme court, returned home Friday evening. Court adjourned Friday for the summer vacation.

The world's most successful medicine for bowel complaints is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It has relieved more pain and suffering, and saved more lives than any other medicine in use. Invaluable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

CONFERENCE AT SAGAMORE HILL*Between Insurgent Leaders and Colonel Roosevelt.*IT IS CONSIDERED SIGNIFICANT

Following the ex-President's Call at Beverly, the Fact That Opponents of Administration Are Flocking to the Hill Is Regarded as at Least Interesting—The Colonel Explains How He Came to Interfere in the New York Situation.

Oyster Bay, July 2.—More insurgent leaders are coming to Sagamore Hill. There will be three of them here today, according to Roosevelt, who is back from his trip to Cambridge, Beverly and Nahant. The names he refused to give, but the mere fact of opponents of the administration flocking to the hill is rather interesting, if not significant, in face of the meeting with Taft.

The colonel had a few things to say about Governor Hughes. While he was emphatic in his desire to refrain from discussing the action of the assembly in defeating the Cobb primary bill at Albany, he was anxious to explain about the message he sent to Chairman Lloyd. He did not send it of his own accord, said the colonel.

"I did not intend to interfere in any way," said the colonel in no uncertain manner. "While I was shocked to learn that Governor Hughes had accepted an appointment to the supreme bench, just as I was when Ethel Roo, left the cabinet to become a senator, I did not ask Hughes to resign, after he had accepted his place on the bench. However, I have always held a very high regard for Hughes, and I believe that he would have been elected for a third term had he chosen to remain in state politics."

Then Roosevelt went on to tell how the governor had requested him to make some definite announcement concerning direct primary legislation. Governor Hughes feared that if the colonel remained silent on the question the silence might be construed as opposition. It was because of this advice that Roosevelt wired his endorsement of the now beaten Cobb bill.

Although the ex-president would not go further into the matter there is reason to think that he is not through with the fight. He has set the ball rolling in this state, and the impression is that he will follow up just as he is going to do in national politics. Naturally he was not pleased at the result of his first political move since his return. Hughes will come to Sagamore Hill within the next few days, Mr. Roosevelt thought, but the exact day he does not know even now. It has been asserted a good many times during the past week that Roosevelt has not yet taken any stand regarding the administration. He said that he was feeling his way; had not had a chance to get a line on things. Politicians thought that after his visit to Beverly the colonel might have reached a conclusion. He has not; or if he has he will not say.

"I can only repeat," he said, "that I spent a very pleasant two hours and a half with President Taft. Most of that time we just greeted one another. For a few minutes we talked of other things, but I am not at liberty to discuss them." The colonel said that any news of the conference must come from Mr. Taft and not from him.

While he was chatting on various subjects Roosevelt got started on how busy he is. He will begin to cut down on everybody dropping into Sagamore Hill, because he simply cannot do the work that is required of him. From now on visitors other than those whom he is anxious to meet or friends of the family, must go to the Outlook office. The colonel will be in town every Wednesday and probably oftener.

"There has been a lot of opposition to the franking privilege for an ex-president," the colonel said, "but, by George, he ought to have it. Now I'm not talking for myself, and I don't want any pension, but let me tell you boys, that the fact of my having been president is costing me $5,000 a year in postage and telegraph tolls."

An eighteen-months-old boy baby of Dr. Paul Ryerly of Lancaster, Pa., was killed in its crib, having crawled through the slats of the side, where it hung by the neck until it died.
